They Love Carmel

MR. AND MRS. KEITH MEALEY and their children, Keith and Aleste, of Fresno. Mr. Mealey is Assistant Manager of 50,000 Watt Radio Station KFRE, Fresno. Upon terminating a visit this week to Carmel, Mr. and Mrs. Mealey stopped by the office of The SPECTATOR on Ocean Avenue, to order a subscription sent to their home. They think Carmel is such an attractive place and drive over as often as possible. With pardonable pride, The SPECTATOR acknowledges the compliments upon our unique coverage of Carmel and the Peninsula.

Other visitors to Carmel are urged to adopt The SPECTATOR as their Second Home Town paper. Subscription rates $4.00 per year or $2.50 for six months. ADV.

"GLASS MENAGERIE" HELD OVER

Tonight and tomorrow Carmel's Golden Bough Players, Edward Kuster directing, will repeat at Sunset Auditorium their successful presentation of Tennessee Williams' notable "Glass Menagerie."

Next Friday will mark the opening of Arthur Miller's forceful winner of the New York Drama Critics' Circle award, "All My Sons," to be presented under Kuster direction at Sunset Auditorium.

"OUTWARD BOUND" OPENS THURSDAY

"Outward Bound," directed by Dan Tothoroh and produced by Kenn Smith, opens Thursday, August 17, at The Wharf Theater on Old Fishermen's Wharf, Monterey. The Sutton Vane play will run on Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights for three consecutive weekends.

"Outward Bound," first produced in the early twenties, is a significant event in modern theater. The play has comedy, controversial philosophy and a nape-of-the-neck chilling honesty in its speculation as to what lies "beyond the veil."

After taking London by storm, "Outward Bound" was first presented in America by William Harris, Jr., at the Apollo Theater, Atlantic City, December 24, 1923, with Leslie Howard and Alfred Lunt playing top roles.

LOS BANOS HOUSE PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Beverly Nickel were hosts last weekend at a house party at their Los Banos ranch. They gathered more than a dozen friends to enjoy the weekend activities. Among their guests were

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Osborne, who this week are moving from their Monterey Peninsula Country Club home to spend a month or more at their home in the Carmel Valley.

NOTED VISITOR

Madiana Pazmor, noted singer, visited last week with Mrs. Carl Nuetzel, of Carmel Woods. Miss Pazmor has returned to Los Angeles, but may come back to Carmel for another visit in the near future.

COCKTAIL PARTY

Corham Knowles invited a few friends for cocktails at the Pebble Beach home of his mother, Mrs. Wynn Meredith, last week. Included in the guest list were Mrs. John Magee and Mrs. Robert Hays Smith, who have just terminated a visit at Del Monte Lodge.

NEW OFFICER INSTRUCTOR AT NAVY SCHOOL

The Monterey Peninsula gained a new permanent resident today when Commander Paul E. Loustaunau, USN, reported for staff duty in the Seamanship and Navigation Department of the Naval School, Monterey, and at the same time reported to the Navy School housing office that he had bought a house on the peninsula this week.

A submarine officer, Commander Loustaunau came to the school from duty on the USS Spinax (SSR 489) where he had served for two years.

Decorations worn by Commander Loustaunau for service on 12 submarine war patrols include: Silver Star; two Bronze Stars; Commendation Ribbon; Army Unit Citation, and several war theater ribbons.

Commander and Mrs. Loustaunau will live with their three children, Sheri Ann, Rene Jo and Paul Jeffrey, in their new peninsula home. Before assuming his duties on the school staff, Commander Loustaunau will go to San Diego for a short course of instructional training.

MAY CONTINUE TO USE "RANCHO DEL MONTE COUNTRY CLUB" NAME

Paul F. Porter and Peggy Porter Marquard may continue to use the name "Rancho Del Monte Country Club" for their Carmel Valley resort, it was decided this week in a judgement by Judge Henry Jorgensen, of Superior Court.

Del Monte Properties Co. had sought to restrain them from use of the name in a case that was filed last August.

LODGE GUESTS

Mrs. Adolphus Andrews, and Mr. and Mrs. Adolphus Andrews, Jr., were recent guests at Del Monte Lodge, Pebble Beach. Among other guests at the lodge were Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Carlisle, Major and Mrs. Thomas Denny, Mr. and Mrs. Brayton Wilbur and Brayton, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Robbins Milbank.

Liquor Discussion Most Exciting

By far the most exciting part of Wednesday's Carmel City Council meeting was the discussion of the new liquor license for a store on the Post Office block, with the City Council and members of the audience squaring off against Mr. and Mrs. John Hall, who own site where the license may go in.

After explaining to the audience that many objections to the liquor store had been voiced and that he had written a letter inviting Mr. Reilly, of the State Board of Equalization, to discuss the problem in a Carmel Town Meeting, Mayor Allen Knight lost no time in inviting comment from Mr. Hall, the man who would lease the store to A. C. Bigham, license applicant.

"Don't you realize, Mr. Hall, that the people of Carmel are against having a new liquor store in Carmel?" Mayor Knight asked.

Mr. Hall explained that it was strictly a matter of business with him. He also said that a grocery or drug store in the same location would ask for a liquor license anyway, adding that children could not be kept out of those types of establishments, while they had no reason for entering a liquor store.

A lady from the audience answered this with the comment that the city was against adding new licenses in any location. Two other property owners in the block pointed out to Mr. Hall that they had turned down opportunities to lease space for a liquor store.

After a see-saw discussion which ended with Mayor Knight charging Mrs. Hall with being out of order, the mayor ended the affair with the statement that the decision rests with the Board of Equalization and that the public should write letters of protest to the board.

TRAFFIC CHANGES

Among the traffic changes that the city will put into effect soon are the reversal of motor flow in the Post Office block, elimination of parking limitations on Fifth between San Carlos and Dolores (also improvement of the same block), purchase of a three-wheel motorcycle for the Police Department and improvement of Ocean Avenue from Monte Verde to the beach. The City Council turned thumbs down to the following AAA suggestions: Cutting back or changing in any way the dividing islands on Ocean Avenue, abolishment of U-turns, abolishment of left turns on Ocean at certain hours and installation of a parking lot at the beach.

As there was some disagreement regarding parking time limitations in certain sections of town, Mayor Knight appointed a committee to consider proper action.

In other business the council also:

1. Voted a sum of $250 to the city building inspector to finance prosecuting of guesthouse violators.

Dear Editor:

...I like everything about The makes it so comfortable to handle;

the type, which doesn't cause eye strain, it is so distinct; and I am beginning to find the way around all by myself to the various shops want to pull up stakes and settle

The photography in the paper is, to

The Indomitable Mister Kuster

By BILL MARTIN

When workmen start construction this fall of the Carmel Playhouse, many of the village's older residents will be witnessing the third phase in the amazing career of Carmel's indomitable Edward Kuster.

That Kuster, at the age of 72, should embark on another theatrical enterprise is tribute enough to his pertinacity, but an added cause for wonder is that he has rebounded so well from two tragedies.

In 1924, Kuster built the Theater of the Golden Bough, which was reputed to be the most beautiful medium-sized theater in the world. Erected in a small town such as Carmel, the Golden Bough caused national and world-wide comment. On May 19, 1935, he presented Siegfried Geyer's Viennese play, "By Candlelight." Discarding P. G. Wodehouse's farcical treatment of the play, Kuster did his own translation from the German. Opening night was a success, but the play's run ended right there, for before a second performance could be given, the Theater of the Golden Bough burned to the ground.

Old timers will remember the furor this tragedy caused; the speculation as to what started the fire; the sense of loss the entire community felt. The most accepted story is that the fire was set deliberately by someone who bore a grudge against Kuster.

With a $100,000 plant gone up in smoke, Kuster remained purposeful enough to stay with his dream, and he moved into a smaller building not far from the blackened site of the first Golden Bough. He named the second theater the Golden Bough Playhouse and presented legitimate theater as well as the best in American and foreign films. Although it was not the show spot that its predecessor was, the playhouse became an almost indispensable part of Carmel life.

During May of last year, Kuster decided to produce "By Candlelight" again. A few cast members had been in the earlier production and they were understandably superstitious about the Geyer play.

"Kuster's playing with fire," was the half-joking comment of many Carmelites who remembered the previous production of "By Candlelight." Of course, it couldn't really happen again.

But it did!

Almost 14 years to the day in the morning hours following opening night of "By Candlelight," the Golden Bough Playhouse caught fire and burned to the ground. The flames soared high in the night air, drawing thousands of onlookers. Perhaps one spectator was a pyromaniac who took advantage of a dramatic situation. Perhaps the fire was started by defective wiring. No one knows to this day.

The two Golden Bough fires were the largest ever recorded in Carmel, with both buildings a complete loss.

To understand how a man can raise himself three times to the height of his dream, one must know something of Edward Kuster's background. An attorney for 20 years in Los Angeles, he became interested in the theater when he helped organize the famous dancing school, Denishawn, for Ruth St. Denis and Ted Shawn. Kuster claims he made his first stage appearance, however, when he was a small boy chasing a goat near the Burbank Theater in Los Angeles. The goat ran backstage during a performance which starred the famous Richard Bennett.

Setting his mind for retirement from law practice at the age of 40, he closed up his books in 1918 and came to Carmel to produce "Caesar and Cleopatra" in the Forest Theater. A talented musician who played 'cello with the Los Angeles Symphony, Kuster even abandoned music when he turned to the theater. After attending a theatrical school, back East, he returned to the village and built the Theater of the Golden Bough, but in 1927 he decided to go to Europe to continue his studies. There he became acquainted with such men as George Linnebach, Gordon Craig (next page)

Fort Ord's trainees get a "baptism of fire" as they squirm along the 100-yard infiltration course between demolition charges as live machine bullets scream overhead. More than 30 newsmen from the Los Angeles, San Francisco and Peninsula areas witnessed important phases of the new six-week basic training cycle Tuesday.

DEPARTMENT HEAD REPORTS AT NAVY SCHOOL

Captain H. A. Pieczentkowski,

USN, reported on board the Naval School, Monterey, last week for staff duty as head of the Ordnance and Gunnery Department.

Captain Pieczentkowski, a graduate of the Naval Academy with the class of 1930, attended submarine school at New London, Conn., in 1932 and postgraduate school at Annapolis from 1937 to 1940. He received his Master's Degree in mechanical engineering at Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1940.

During the war he commanded the submarine USS Sturgeon and was subsequently head of torpedo research at Newport, R.I., from 1943 until 1945. Following duty on the staff of Commander Submarines, Pacific, during 1946 and 1947, he commanded Submarine Division 72 in 1948 and 1949. Prior to report-

New Construction At Fort Ord

Lieutenant Colonel Menon W. Whitsitt, Fort Ord Post Engineer, this week announced that the contract for the 500 family, five million dollar housing project, authorized for construction at Fort Ord under the provisions of the Wherry Act, had been approved for Likins-Foster and Associates, an Albuquerque, New Mexico, building firm. Initial announcements concerning the project were made by Fort Ord officials in November, 1949.

The site is located just north of and adjoining Ord Village. Location of the project will be in the general vicinity of Ord Village.

The privately financed housing units, some single family units and some duplex, with one, two and three bedrooms. Average rentals are expected to be in the neighborhood of $91.11, including utilities but unfurnished.

ing at Monterey, Captain Pieczentkowski attended the Naval War College for the senior course.

Captain Pieczentkowski wears the Silver Star, the Bronze Star with combat V, and the Navy Unit Commendation. In addition, he wears the Asiatic Pacific Ribbon, the American Theatre, American Defense, World War II Victory and Philippine Defense ribbons.

With his wife, the former Helen Van Horn Herron, of Seattle and San Francisco, and their sons, Peter, 13, and Marshall, 11, the Pieczentkowskis will make their new home in quarters on the Naval School grounds.

A GADGET SHOP OPENS

Gadgets Unlimited, a new shop on Ocean Avenue, Carmel, operated by Dave Prince and Margaret Peasley, opened its doors to the public this week. With more than 600 gadgets and gimmicks on order or in the shop, Mr. Prince and Miss Peasley report they will have new items on display every day.

The well-known Carmelites will continue to operate their travel agency, however. Mr. Prince said today that the idea for the gadget shop evolved from their plan to sell travel items to people who came to them for tickets and reservations. Gradually, they decided Carmel needed a complete gadget store; thus, Gadgets Unlimited.

Mr. Prince said the gadgets will be mainly useful items with a few of the novelty type.

SPREADING THE NEWS

Bishop of the Casa de Ponderosa (the Fremont Extension place that has all the finished and unfinished furniture in any shape or size), her young son Terry was out in the back room exercising his vocal cords on the following refrain: "Dirty-meister, dirty-meister, that's my nice old plain beer."

THE FACT THAT EAST IS EAST and West is West, and probably always will be, was nicely illustrated this week by two short articles in Monday's San Francisco Chronicle. The first was a Reuters dispatch from Singapore which said that poor and superstitious Chinese families in that locality "are trying to sell or give away for adoption baby girls born this year. This is 'Year of the Tiger' in the Chinese calendar and is considered unlucky for female children."

The other article stated that the quarterly meeting of the western region members of the National Institute of Diaper Services will be held in San Francisco Saturday and Sunday.

AND FINALLY, for what it is worth, an overheard remark made on Ocean Avenue by a bare-legged and possibly non-hoarding-type lady: "I wish I felt the same way about girdles as I do about stockings..."

"OUTWARD BOUND" RUN STARTS NEXT THURSDAY

"Outward Bound," Sutton Vane's popular morality play, will be presented by the Wharf Players, Monterey, on Thursday, August 17, to run three consecutive four-day weekends. The show is directed by Dan Tothoroh and produced by Kenn I. Smith.

The cast includes Rod Coupe, Dee Sharpe, Richard Cox, Terry Eby, Lesley Somers, Bill Fort, Ruth McElroy, Clay Somers and Tom Gardiner.

RUTH LEWIS SILVA

Funeral services for Ruth Lewis Silva, 75, widow of the late William P. Silva, Carmel artist, were held last week in Los Altos. Mrs. Silva, who died in a hospital in Santa Clara County following several years of ill health, had for 20 years been a voice teacher in Carmel.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Mary M. Minetor, of Los Altos; two sons, Benjamin, of Huntington, West Virginia, and Hanford, of Cincinnati, Ohio, and a stepson, Abbott Silva, of Carmel.

TO MONTANA RANCH

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Morse, of Carmel, and family, left Monday to spend a vacation at their ranch in Montana.

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S

WHO IS IT?

Francis Whitaker, president of the Point Lobos League, is featured in this week's "Who Is It?" Born in 1906 at Boston, Mass., he attended school in various cities of the East and South, later going to Germany to study ornamental iron work and design. He reports that his father, who was for 10 years editor of the Journal of the American Institute of Architects, was the person who sparked his interest in blacksmith work. In 1927, following two years in Berlin, Mr. Whitaker came to Carmel for a weekend and has lived here ever since. He worked with John Catlin at the old Forge in the Forest and ultimately bought the business in 1941, although he closed shop during the war to become a welding instructor in state schools under the auspices of the War Production Board. Mr. Whitaker is, in fact, the village blacksmith, and a rabid Carmelite. Like Perry Newberry, he is a believer in "anti-progress" and has labored unceasingly to protect this area's natural beauty. Most people are well aware that the Point Lobos League, which he heads, is the organization now raising funds for purchasing the Carmel River Beach. The league has also taken steps to protect Point Lobos State Park from everything from movie companies to the U.S. Army. Married to the former Elaine Legere, of Carmel, Mr. Whitaker is the father of two: Sheila, now Mrs. Wynne Hutchings, of Monterey, and Steven, who just graduated with honors from Carmel High School. Aside from the Point Lobos League, Mr. Whitaker is president of the Carmel Crafts Guild, vice president of the Carmel Camera Club and a committeeman of the Sierra Club.

PATRICIA MORA TO WED MOTION PICTURE DIRECTOR

A wedding sometime in the fall is planned by Miss Patricia Mora, of Pebble Beach, and Joseph Page, former Hollywood leading man who is now a director at Warner Brothers Studios.

Miss Mora, daughter of Mrs. Jo Mora and the late Mr. Mora, noted American sculptor, is well known on the Monterey Peninsula. She attended Carmel schools and is a talented pianist. Her family has lived in this area for the past 30 years.

Mr. Page, formerly a Hollywood leading man who acted under the stage name, Don Alvarado, is currently directing "A Streetcar Named Desire" at Warner Brothers. The couple will set their wedding date after the picture is finished.

Miss Mora and Mr. Page met here a short while ago when the groom-to-be was working on the picture, "Breakthrough," at Fort Ord.

ANOTHER REGISTERED SKEET SHOOT SLATED HERE THIS FALL

The O. N. Ford Memorial Shoot sponsored by the National Skeet Shooting Association at the Pebble Beach Gun Club Sunday was such a success that the Northern California Skeet Association has promised to break their rule again (they usually hold registered shoots at clubs with more than one field) and will hold another shoot at Pebble Beach this fall.

There were more than 70 entrants Sunday and a gallery of several hundred. Squads were sent from Monterey, Fort Ord, Fresno Skeet & Trap Club, Stockton, Pacific Rod and Gun in San Francisco, and individuals from as far away as Honolulu.

Eight trophies were put up by the Pebble Beach Club but only four of them went to shooters outside the club: John B. Morse took the trophy for Class C; General William Ord Ryan, Class D; Peter Morse, Class E, and the trophy for high gun in the Junior Class.

C. C. Rogers, of Salinas, and also a member of the Pebble Beach Club, was high gun for the day. He also won the 20 guage event with 49x50.

L. Moriarity, of Honolulu, took Class A honors with 50 straight; and M. Muhs, of Stockton, was second in Class A with 49x50. Chief Albert D. Cohen of the Naval Air Station, Monterey, was high gun in Class B with 49x50, and L. Wilkins, of San Francisco, was second in Class B with 47x50.

John B. Morse, of Pebble Beach, won Class C with 47x50; and General William Ord Ryan, of Pebble Beach, was Class D winner with 47x50.

Peter Morse, of Pebble Beach, was high man in Class E and was also high gun in the Junior event.

Ray Bocci, of the Pacific Rod and Gun Club in San Francisco, carried off top honors in the 28 guage event with 50 straight and also the .410 event with 49x50.
